

MYSTERY CLEARED BY A CONFESSION

SENSATIONAL INDIANA MURDER CASE REVIVED.

The claim is made that Rev. Mr. Hinshaw has admitted to the killing of his wife—is now in prison at Jefferson City for the crime—Ofense was a Brutal One.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 24.—At the recent meeting of the Methodist conference at Evansville, a number of persons stated that Rev. William E. Hinshaw, confined in the southern prison for wife murder, had made a confession of his crime, and it appeared from these statements that it was a secret known only to members of the conference and coming to them in such a way that they did not feel at liberty to make names and details public.

It now transpires that Hinshaw, soon after the murder of his wife, and while still preaching at Belleville, Hendricks county, consulted a young lawyer who was a personal friend and between whom and himself had been a long-standing intimacy. The friend became convinced that Hinshaw's story of the burglars being in his house was untrue, and after Hinshaw's arrest for the crime he sent for his friend and wanted him to defend him. He refused, and advised Hinshaw to throw himself upon the mercy of the court.

According to the story, Hinshaw said he and his wife had returned home on the night of the murder. They were in bed when his wife began a quarrel with a young woman, whose name afterward appeared in the trial. The wife was furious in her anger and the husband was lashed to frenzy by her words.

When the quarrel was at its height, according to the reported confession, she seized a revolver and shot him. He struggled with her for possession of the weapon, and, having obtained it, his anger being at a white heat and hardly knowing what he did, he fired and killed her.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.

John Boyd Thacher Still Nominée for Governor of New York.

New York, Sept. 24.—There is a difference of opinion among members of the state silver democratic committee as to the significance of the resolution adopted at Tuesday night's meeting, creating a committee of five to visit Mr. Thacher, the nominee for governor. Norton Chase, Mr. Thacher's friend and sponsor, said: "The text of the resolution has been misquoted. It simply called for the committee to go to Albany and notify Mayor Thacher of his nomination. It is not a pumping committee in any sense of the word."

The Tammany general committee passed resolutions enthusiastically endorsing Bryan and Sewall and the Chicago platform. No reference was made to the candidacy of John Boyd Thacher for governor.

Shipment of Gold Continues.

New York, Sept. 24.—Representatives of foreign banking houses estimate that of the first $1500,000 in gold imported in the movement to this country about $10,000,000 was shipped against sterling loans and about $5,000,000 against commercial bills of the balance of the $40,000,000 other amounts engaged in all to date $25,000,000 was drawn against commercial bills. It is still believed that the flow of gold from Europe to the United States can only be temporarily stayed, interrupted. A number of sterling loans mature next month. The steamship Servia has on board $600,000 in gold consigned to Kidder, Peabody & Co. of Boston.

Human Subjects Discussed.

Cleveland O., Sept. 24.—The second day's session of the American Humane association convention opened even more auspiciously than the first, the big assembly-room of the chamber of commerce being crowded when President Shall rapped for order. An address by Dr. Albert Leffingwell on "The Regulation of Vivisection in the District of Columbia" proved interesting. Dr. Leffingwell believed if vivisection were permitted it should be surrounded with such restrictions as to insure the subject against suffering.

Annual Illinois Conference.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 24.—The annual Illinois conference of the Methodist Episcopal church (south) opened its initial business session at the Methodist Episcopal church (south) Wednesday at 9 o'clock. DISCUSS BANK TOPICS.

Association at St. Louis Gets Down to Active Work.

St. Louis, Sept. 24.—When the second day's session of the twenty-second annual convention of the American Bankers' association was called to order at 10 o'clock Wednesday by President Pullen there was a largely increased attendance. The prayer was offered by Most Reverend John J. Kane, Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

One hour was devoted to brief statements by delegates of the general condition of banking in their various states, after which the convention took up a number of questions relating to practical banking.

Among the subjects discussed were these: 1. Diligent presentation of checks payable at distance; the law and the practice. 2. Discussion of the rule abolishing restrictive indorsements. 3. Payment of depositors' notes; discussion of practice in different states. 4. Necessity of uniform laws governing commercial paper: What can the American Bankers' association do to bring the various state laws into harmony? 5. Is a bank check revocable before presentation for payment? Discussion of the practice in the various states. 6. Warehouse receipts as collateral; risks in loaning upon them. 7. Uniformity of holiday laws. 8. Equality in the taxation of bank stock. 9. Bank statements; can they be improved? 10. The partial payment of checks. 11. Recourse of bank against account of an insolvent customer. 12. Should not exchange be charged on all items that cost to collect? 13. Is it good banking to pay interest on daily balances? 14. Is it desirable to have a national bankrupt law? 15. It is desirable to have the 10 per cent tax on state-bank circulation repealed? 16. Should not the national banking law permit the organization of banks of small capital in small towns? 17. Ought there to be legislation to prevent "kiting"? 18. What is the best method to safeguard bankers' drafts from forgery and alteration?

NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

State Militia Are Given Entire Charge of the City of Leadville, Colo.

Denver, Col., Sept. 24.—At 7 o'clock Gov. McIntire sent a telegram of instructions to Gen. Brooks at Leadville giving that officer full power to act as his representative in suppressing riot in that city and district. Gen. Brooks is specially instructed to permit no interference from any source whatever, and to act with or without the cooperation of the local authorities. This practically amounts to a declaration of martial law.

No further violence has been reported at Leadville, but as it is known that more than 500 new model Winchester are in possession of the rioters, as well as large supplies of dynamite, grave fears are entertained by both the citizens and the military.

Gov. McIntire has sent orders to the two 2d regiment companies held in reserve, one at Lake City and the other at Montevista, to proceed at once to Leadville. This will place at the general's immediate disposal 850 soldiers, including the Chaffee light artillery, with Gatling guns, and also the Denver city troop of cavalry.

PREPARING FOR BRYAN CLUBS.

St. Louis Plans for a Big Demonstration Next Month.

St. Louis, Sept. 24.—Preparations are being made for the convention of the Association of Democratic Clubs, which is to meet here in the Auditorium Oct. 3. The convention will last two days and will bring to St. Louis some of the biggest men in the democratic party. Among those who are expected to be present are William J. Bryan and Arthur Sewall and ex-Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith of Atlanta.

On the night of Oct. 2, preceding the convention, St. Louis will witness the grandest outdoor demonstration of the campaign. All the visiting clubs will be in line, and if Mr. Bryan and his associates on the national ticket reach here in time they will review the parade, in which between thirty and fifty thousand men are expected to take part.

Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Sold.

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—In compliance with a decree of the United States circuit court the assets of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal and Iron company that are not covered by general mortgage bonds were sold at auction Wednesday for $4,500,000. The purchaser was C. H. Coster of New York, a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

To Elect a Senator in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 24.—There is now little doubt that an extra session of the Kentucky legislature will be called for the following November election, and that the senatorial race will be revived and a successor to Joe Blackburn elected, who will be either a republican or John G. Carlisle.

Meet Next Year at Owosso, Mich.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 24.—The Indiana conference of the Evangelical church has adjourned to meet next year at Owosso, Mich. Rev. J. Lindenmeyer of Laporte was elected president. Some definite line of action will be taken to provide for the widows and orphans of the deceased clergymen. It is not improbable that a home will be erected by the churches of Indiana and Michigan.

THOUSANDS GO TO CANTON TO HEAR M'KINLEY BUT BRYAN HAS TO HUNT FOR HEARERS

WOMEN'S CLUB VISITS MAJOR M'KINLEY.

Delegation From Bowling Green Ohio, Call on the Honest Money Standard Bearer—First Voters Club of Muncie, Ind., Among the Visitors. Nebraska Gold Democrats at Work.

Canton, O., Sept. 24.—Variety was given to the visiting delegations to this city Wednesday. With the callers from Bowling Green, O., came the Ladies' McKinley and Hobart club. They were attired in traveling dress and wore white Tam O'Shanter caps, encircled with bands of gold. The spokesman for the Indiana delegation was Bert Needham, president of the First Voters' club of Muncie. He is the youngest man who has yet spoken here in behalf of visitors. His address was complimented by Maj. McKinley, who responded. Mr. McKinley also addressed the Wood county delegation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 24.—Ex-President Harrison's private secretary, E. F. Tibbot, says that no political committee is in a position to say how many political speeches the general will make, or where he will make them. The general will return here the first week in October. The republican managers here take the secretary's statement to mean that the ex-president proposes to make his own appointments independent of national and state committees.

Silver Headquarters Close.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The local branch headquarters of the silver democratic national committee have been closed and will not be reopened. The branch was opened at the beginning of the campaign with the idea of supplying literature for democratic newspapers, but it has been found that this work could be more effectively done in Chicago than Washington.

Nebraska Gold Democrats.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 24.—A political surprise was sprung Wednesday when official announcement was made that the gold democrats of Nebraska would hold a state convention and name not only Palmer and Buckner as electors, but nominate a full state ticket and candidates for congress. The convention will be held at Omaha Oct. 1. It had generally been supposed that the gold democrats would hold no convention.

New Jersey Names Electors.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 24.—The executive committee of the gold democratic state committee of New Jersey met at the Palmer and Buckner headquarters here and named the presidential electors to be voted for in November. It will be one of the most important turf gatherings of the year and will be attended by numbers of leading turfmen from Cincinnati and Kentucky.

BRYAN SPEAKS AT BROOKLYN NEW YORK.

Large Audience Listens to the Boy Orator and His High Sounding Speeches—Senator Blackburn Denounces the Democrats Who Bolted the Ticket—Popocratic News.

New York, Sept. 24.—Before 6 o'clock Wednesday night every entrance to the Academy of Music in Brooklyn was the battleground of a howling, tumultuous mob, all eager to hear William J. Bryan, and when the doors were flung open a little past that hour it took less than ten minutes to fill the big building from the front steps to the rear wall.

When James D. Bell, chairman of the Kings county democracy, rapped for order Mr. Bryan had not yet arrived. In a few words Mr. Bell named as chairman of the meeting "Fighting Judge" William Gaynor of the Supreme court. After his selection had been enthusiastically ratified, the senator read a set of resolutions which the meeting adopted. They recite that the election to be held in November is of greater importance than any since the civil war. denounce corporations and monopolies and compliment Mr. Bryan for the skill with which he has thus far led the fight. The document in conclusion pledges the allegiance of the county democracy to Bryan and the whole ticket.

The reading had scarcely finished before distant shouts from the outside of the building announced the arrival of the Bryan party. The noise grew louder and nearer, gradually developing into a muffled roar and eventually bursting into a torrent of sound, the volume of which shook the building to the center as the candidate walked down the stage. The noise continued unabated for six minutes, at the end of which time Mr. Bryan's raised hands finally brought about order. Without delay he stepped to the front of the stage and commenced his speech.

Mr. Bryan's address lasted an hour and a half, and was concluded at 10:15 o'clock. Under the guidance of a local committee he left the Academy of Music for the rink meeting. Upon reaching Montague street, however, the disappointed crowds who failed to get entrance to the hall shouted for a speech, and from a rude platform hastily provided, the candidate made a brief open-air address. Meanwhile, inside the hall, Senator "Joe" Blackburn of Kentucky had been introduced. The senator arraigned the bolting democrats mercilessly.

Gov. Altgeld Talks to Germans.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Gov. John P. Altgeld came to town yesterday and improved each minute of his time delivering addresses. The principal meeting was in Brand's hall, in North Clark street, where he spoke to an audience of German-Americans. The hall was crowded. He also addressed two other meetings.

Japan Is Suspicious.

Shanghai, Sept. 24.—It is believed here that the dispatch of a Russian squadron to Shanghai will be the first result of an agreement reached between Li Hung Chang and Russia, which is viewed with great anxiety and suspicion in Japan. China, it is added, is rapidly repairing the docks and workshops of Port Arthur, and is storing there vast quantities of coal. It is thought that these movements indicate a startling development in Russian policy.

Will Meet at Springfield, Ill.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 24.—The sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows held a lengthy business session Wednesday, adjourning at 2 o'clock. Baltimore and Hot Springs were candidates. Richmond, Va., was presented, but later withdrawn.

Canada Asks a Papal Delegate.

Washington, Sept. 24.—An announcement of a request of the liberals of Canada that the pope appoint an apostolic delegate to Canada or extend the jurisdiction of the one to the United States over that territory is regarded here with considerable interest. It is the result of the agitation in Canada of the school question.

TO WIPE OUT LEADVILLE.

Strikers Said to Be Ready to Make a Concerted Attack.

Denver, Col., Sept. 24.—The impression that the presence of troops in Leadville would end the strike has been dissipated by the reports which have reached Governor McIntyre from Leadville. He is told that miners from Aspen, Cripple Creek and the San Juan are quietly gathering at Leadville and that at an opportune moment the strikers will wipe out the entire national guard and burn the town. The governor has inquired unofficially of Brigadier Gen. Wheaton, commander of the military department of Colorado, as to what assistance the federal authorities can render in case of emergency on short notice.

Colonel Merriam of the Seventh infantry, stationed at Fort Logan, has been apprised that his command may receive orders to take the field, and his troops will be ready when the official call comes. When federal aid is needed the governor will address President Cleveland directly, who in turn will, through the secretary of war, order General Wheaton to act.

ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

Veterans of the Rebellion in Annual Reunion at Rockford.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 24.—Wednesday was opening day of the reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, and much of the time was given over to receiving and welcoming the visitors. Every train into the city brought delegations of distinguished soldiers, whose names are familiar in the pages of war history. The morning was devoted to a business session, at which reports were presented and routine work transacted. Columbus, O.; Grand Rapids, Mich., and Chattanooga, Tenn., have delegations here working for the next reunion. Letters of regret were read from many noted men. The afternoon was given over to the regimental reunions and a carriage drive about the city. At night a campfire, attended by several thousand, was held at the opera house. General Parkhurst presided and General David S. Stanley of Washington delivered the oration of the evening, speaking principally on the battle of Franklin. Other important addresses were also made.

After Senator Wolcott's Scalp.

Denver, Col., Sept. 24.—The petition asking Senator Wolcott to resign, which has been circulated all over the state, is now being collected by J. B. Holmes of this city, who has been most active in furthering the movement. "This petition will not be sent to Mr. Wolcott to be thrown in the waste basket," said Mr. Holmes. "We propose to allow him to inspect it and then ask him to resign. If he does not every petition will be filed with the United States senate, demanding the action of that body. In case that body should neglect or refuse to act the matter will be taken into the United States supreme court and a test case made."

LEAVES NO DOUBT OF THE MURDER

THE KENOSHA WOMAN WAS CERTAINLY SLAIN.

Doctors Say That When She Was Clutched The Shock was so Great That Her Heart Ceased to Beat—Fire at Superior—State Specials by Wire.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 24.—[Special]—The theory that Mrs. Katharina Mohr committed suicide at her home in the town of Somers, Kenosha county, is entirely shattered by the developments brought to light under the investigations of the authorities. There is no longer any doubt but that Mrs. Mohr was murdered. The funeral of the dead woman took place yesterday, but before the remains were interred Dr. G. Windesheim, of Kenosha, made a very careful examination. It is his judgment, that instead of the woman dying of heart disease, the theory is that when she was clutched she became so suddenly shocked that her heart's action ceased. Beyond these facts there were a few minor circumstances about the room to show that some person other than Mrs. Mohr had been there. The dishes on the table gave evidence of some one's having partaken of a meal, which was unusual in the son's absence.

Forest Fires Near Superior.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 24.—Forest fires are still burning south and east of the city, and the West Superior fire department was out Wednesday for several hours, preventing the spread of flames to the residence portion of the town. The eastern portion of the city was darkened by dense clouds of smoke. The wind blew steadily for several hours, and had the effect of reviving many smoldering fires. Section men are still on guard along the lines of railroad, and crews of men are employed by the owners of standing pine to protect their holdings.

Veterans at Madison, Wis.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 24.—The speech of Senator Vilas at the great gold meeting Wednesday was well received. VICTORIA'S LONG REIGN.

Now Exceeds That of Any Other British Monarch.

London, Sept. 24.—With the dawn of Wednesday Queen Victoria's reign exceeded that of her grandfather, George III, and she has, therefore, ruled longer than any other British monarch. George III ruled fifty-nine years three months and two days. Her majesty has sat on the throne fifty-nine years three months and three days. All public rejoicings, however, have been deferred until July of next year, when, if spared, the queen will have actually completed a reign of sixty years.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish and often fails to digest, causing severe suffering. Only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and effectively relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Distress After Eating.

Last fall I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and am glad to say that my stomach trouble has entirely disappeared. I can now eat a hearty meal of almost any kind of food and have no trouble afterwards. Hood's Sarsaparilla has also cured me of nervous spells." JOHN H. HOMRIGHAUS, Wheatland, Iowa. THE FLIP-FLOP IS DESPERATE.

Turn Coat Organ Sees No Hope So It Abandons All Decency.

The Flip-Flop, that turncoat sheet that would, presumably, assassinate its best political friend if by so doing it would "keep in line," makes a very weak attempt to justify the publication of the fake about the Werner Printing Company's employees being for free-silver, and crawls behind the statement that "someone said so." The turncoat Flip-Flop is desperate. It realizes that there is no hope for the silver cause. It realizes that the democrats who have made the Flip-Flop what it is, are now disgusted with the antics of that puny populist publication. It knows that there is no hope. It knows that it has no support among the genuine democrats. It knows that when, a few short weeks ago, it was supporting Senator Vilas for president, and denouncing the silver lunacy, that it was on the right side, and was expounding true democratic faith. Now it sees its mistake, and if it could, would flip-flop again, but it can't. The Flip-Flop has made its bed, but the couch is an uncomfortable one.

Mr. Billow, The Gazette's informant, is a perfectly reliable man, and his statement can be depended upon. He is no turncoat; he has a mind of his own. The Flip-Flop says it doesn't know Mr. Billow, and seems to think that ought to settle it. But it doesn't. The Flip-Flop's acquaintance is limited, but it wouldn't make any difference anyway. People do not like Flip-Flops. They like to see people and papers that are consistent. They admire people who admit that they are wrong, in a manly way, and respect them for their honesty. But they do not like "flips" for policy's sake. The Flip-Flop turned its coat on the financial question; changed squarely around on the water works' question; and snarled Mayor Baines and the council for doing the very thing it advocated. It has no standing because it has no opinions of its own. It straddles everything. Democrats denounce the paper openly, and popocrats decry it in private because they think that at heart it is a "gold bug" sheet and has espoused the silver cause purely out of policy.

The Flip-Flop says The Gazette is "a liar," but if it doesn't "flip back" on that statement, too, it will be the only one it has stuck to since the campaign opened. "Liar" is not a very dignified word, and The Gazette does not yet have to use it to make a point. Therefore The Gazette will not call the Flip-Flop "a liar," because it isn't necessary. "When you see it in The Gazette," Flip-Flop, "it is new and true." And by the way, Flip-Flop, if you run out of arguments of the "liar" order, perhaps you can get a new supply by consulting with the advisory board of the Whitelight club.

POEM WAS SENT TO M'KINLEY

Mrs. Abbie A. Ford Hears From the Letter She Sent to Canton.

Mrs. Abbie A. Ford sent to Major McKinley a few days ago the poem, "McKinley," which she had in The Gazette not long ago.

"I was very much pleased" last evening," she said, "to receive from the pen of Major McKinley's private secretary a very cordial acknowledgement. The letter reads as follows:—"

Canton, O., Sept. 21, 1896. Mrs. Abbie A. Ford, Janesville, Wis. Dear Madam—Major McKinley is in receipt of yours of the 16th inst., but the vast accumulation of mail matter prevented earlier acknowledgement. He desires to express to you his appreciation of your courtesy in sending him a copy of your excellent poem.

Major McKinley regrets that owing to the great demands upon his time it is impossible for him to make personal acknowledgement. Yours very truly, JAMES BOYLE, Private Secretary

COAL SELLS FOR $5 UP AT GREEN BAY

WAR AMONG DEALERS CAUSES A DROP IN PRICE.

Man Who Went Into Business On His Own Hook at That Town Last Spring is the Cause of the Rumpus.—Attempts at Compromise Have Failed.

If the people of Janesville could move to Green Bay, they would save $3.25 a ton on their anthracite coal. This proposition sounds improbable, but it is a fact, for the same coal that is being sold to Janesville consumers at $7.25 a ton, is being retailed in Green Bay at $5 a ton. Such a condition seems almost impossible, in face of the protests by the coal barons that it was impossible for them to sell coal as cheaply this season as they have done in the past, and like excuses put forward for them by their apologists. That the explanations of the barons and their are not true, is shown by the situation at Green Bay.

The low price at Green Bay is the result of a coal war at that point, which, so far as known, is due to the dealers there and which the barons would like to see brought to a close. The war was brought about by a young man named Duncan, who started out in the coal business on his own hook last spring. He solicited trade and sold a good many orders for future delivery, promising that they should be charged for at a reasonable rate. When the coal ring announced from the east that the price of coal must be put up this young man in Green Bay paid no attention to the instructions, but went right ahead selling it at a price which would insure him more custom than his competitors could control. He did not have a monopoly of the business very long, however, for in the natural order of things his competitors also cut prices. The cutting has been going steadily on until now they have got the price down to $5. Some time ago the Northwestern Fuel company, which has a branch in Green Bay, sent a representative to that city to patch up the trouble, but without success, and the end of the fight is not yet in view.

JEALOUS PAPER RAVES AND FUMES

Flip-Flop Wants Some Glory That It Didn't Earn

"No other paper than The Gazette was used in announcing the sale and the returns exceeded all expectations."

That is just what The Gazette said in regard to the Winslow sale, Mr. Flip-Flop, and that is literally true. Saturday afternoon's Gazette, exclusively, announced the Winslow sale and the big store was filled to overflowing before 7 o'clock that night. Saturday's night advertising—in the Gazette exclusively—did just what we said it did. The Flip-Flop was not used as an advertising medium until Sunday morning. Gazette advertising did the business Saturday night, before the snail-like little Flip-Flop had been galvanized into life. That's all The Gazette claimed but the Flip-Flop is so jealous that it cannot read straight.

"When you see it in The Gazette it is new and true" but when you see it in the Flip-Flop it has changed its coat and has long populist whiskers. The Flip-Flop should buy a curry comb and brush the moss off its Benedict Arnold back.

FIRE DID EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

Residence Owned By Dr. W. O. Coffee Searched Yesterday Afternoon

A double house owned by Dr. W. O. Coffee, and occupied by J. B. Lepine and C. A. The total damage will aggregate $1,000 or more. A. J. Baker, who is Dr. Coffee's agent, as the property was insured. Mr. Lepine also had $500 insurance on his goods and Mrs. Nellie Cyr, who resided on the second floor of the house, also had ample insurance. An alarm was turned in from box 32, and the department quickly conquered the flames.

Mortgage Was Burned and the Pastor Was Given a Bicycle.

Members of the First M. E. church held a jollification at the church parlors last night, in honor of the paying of the church indebtedness, and in the course of the evening, a chicken pie supper was served; the mortgage was burned; and the pastor, Rev. R. K. Manaton, was presented with a bicycle by his appreciative congregation. The mortgage was originally for $1,500 and was given August 22, 1893. During the first year the amount was reduced to $1,000 and this, together with the $70 interest has been raised during the past year. Supper was served at 5:30 o'clock, and $25 was taken in. On the handlebar of the wheel, was a bell purchased by the boys in the Sunday school. Presiding Elder Pease applied the match to the mortgage while S. E. Phillips, president of the board of trustees, caught the ashes in a pan, and the audience sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessing Flow."

Last Bulletin of Wisconsin Crops For the Season.

The Wisconsin weather service has issued its last weekly crop bulletin for the season. The growing season, the bulletin states, was practically closed on Sunday morning by heavy frosts throughout the state, but all the crops had sufficiently matured, so that the damage was very slight. The bulletin further states that corn is an exceptionally heavy crop and will fully equal, if not exceed, that of last year. Fall seeding is being carried on under very favorable conditions, some fields of early sown grain having already attained a good stand. Buckwheat is generally matured, and is reported as only fair. Oats and barley are not turning out as well as was expected when the crops were cut, on account of the extremely rank growth of the straw. The potato crop is reported as an inferior one, and that there will be barely sufficient in some sections for home consumption.

HAPPY CROWD AT BARN DANCE

Young People Made Merry at the Home of C. J. Wells.

Janesville was well represented, last evening, at the Harmony home of C. J. Wells, the attraction being a barn dance. Mr. Wells has recently finished one of the finest structures in that part of the county, and its dedication took place last evening, the entire floor being comfortably filled with a merry crowd. Refreshments of a tempting nature were served, and it was well toward morning before the festivities came to a close. Smith's orchestra furnished the music, and the affair was a decided success.

PANTHER UNDER HER BED.

Her Husband's Fight with the Beast in the Darkness.

W. W. Smith, who resides in the mountains about seven miles north of Ukiah, Cal., arrived in town yesterday with the skins of two large panthers which he had killed near his home Saturday evening last, says the San Francisco Chronicle. He also exhibited a suit of clothes which he had worn at the time of the killing. They were torn to shreds and bore evidence of the truth of the story which he told regarding the difficulty he had in winning the trophies.

Mr. Smith left his home early Monday morning for the purpose of visiting this city. He requested his wife to go over to an adjoining ranch, owned by J. W. Fitzsimmons, and remain there until he called for her on his way back. Mrs. Smith was putting on her bonnet when she was horrified to observe the head of an enormous panther through the open door. She sprang toward the window, hoping to escape. At her first movement the panther sprang in at the door and rushed under the bed. Mrs. Smith then ran through the door and reached her neighbor's house thoroughly exhausted.

Her husband arrived later and, accompanied by Fitzsimmons, left for his home to either kill or scare away the panther. Fitzsimmons took a shotgun and Smith was armed with a butcher knife and carried a lantern. Reaching the house, Smith stepped inside, when the panther, which had been feeding on the remains of a deer, sprang at his throat, bearing him to the ground and breaking the lantern. Smith finally succeeded in gaining his feet and called Fitzsimmons for help, but the latter was able to see only the dim outlines of the struggle.

Smith plied his knife and finally succeeded in administering a fatal wound. The panther released his hold, and, after a few convulsive struggles, lay on the floor. Smith, though scratched and lacerated, was not seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith remained all night at the Fitzsimmons ranch and returned to their home Sunday morning. On their arrival at the house they encountered another panther, the female, which was soon treed by Fitzsimmons' dogs and killed.

SPEED OF INSECTS.

A Common House Fly Travels a Mile in Thirty-three Seconds.

It is the popular belief that the flight of the birds is much swifter than that of the insects, but a number of naturalists who have been making a study of the matter think that such is not the case, says Science. A common house fly, for example, is not very rapid in its flight, but its wings make 800 beats a second and send it through the air twenty-five feet, under ordinary circumstances, in that space of time. When the insect is alarmed, however, it has been found that it can increase its rate of speed to over 160 feet per second. If it could continue such rapid flight for a mile in a straight line it would cover that distance in exactly 33 seconds. It is not an uncommon thing when traveling by rail in the summer time to see a bee or wasp keeping up with the train and trying to get in at one of the windows. A swallow is considered one of the swiftest of flying birds and it was thought until recently that no insect could escape it. A naturalist tells of an exciting chase he saw between a swallow and a dragon fly, which is among the swiftest of insects. The insect flew with incredible speed and wheeled and dodged with such ease that the swallow, despite its utmost efforts, completely failed to overtake and capture it.

HORSES CANNOT RACE IN SNOW

A Horseman Plays With the Credulity of The Flip-Flop

Some wag has been joking with the Flip-Flop and the joke was swallowed. The Flip-Flop says:

"A prominent horseman who owns a string of trotters says that he is not entering his horses in any races now. He is waiting to see how election goes. He says if McKinley is elected he will not start them again this year and perhaps never."

The horseman undoubtedly spoke the truth. After election the racing season will be ended and of course the horseman cannot "start his horses again this year" because if he did he would have to race with himself. The statement that "he may never start them again" is doubtless an expression of fact. Horses sometimes die between racing seasons and quite frequently horses that raced this year "are never started again"—because they cannot win.

SOLD HIS TROTTER FOR $125.

Lansing Warren Disposes of Franklin G. For a Song.

A trotter with a record of 2:26 and able to cover a mile in 2:14, is not sold every day for $125, but yesterday was "bargain day" at the state fair, and two employees of the Uiblein stables, Drivers Briggs and Locklin, purchased Franklin G., a horse that has frequently raced here. Lansing Warren, of Waukegan, Ill., was the owner of Franklin G., and rather than take chances in the future he sold the gelding, blankets, sulky, speeding wagon, boots, two harness, and track paraphernalia for $125. Last night a horseman offered the two drivers $300 for the horse alone, but they declined the tender. Franklin G. trotted a mile in a trial spin last week in 2:14 and would be considered cheap at $500.

Wisconsin C. E. Convention.

On account of the Wisconsin Christian Endeavor meeting at Madison, September 24 and 27, the Chicago & Northwestern Company will sell tickets at a fare and a third for the round trip. Three trains will go each way daily.

Speed and safety are the watchwords of the age. One Minute Cough Cure acts speedily, safely and never fails. Asthma, bronchitis, coughs and colds are cured by it. C. D. Stevens.

Half Rates to Milwaukee.

On account of the Wisconsin State Fair, the North-Western Line will, from September 21 to 26, sell excursion tickets to Milwaukee and return at half rates, one fare for the round trip, good for return passage until September 23, 1896, inclusive. For tickets and full information apply to agents Chicago & Northwestern R'y.

Cutlery.

A new line of celebrated Waterville pocket knives and shears. Factory established in 1842. Every pair warranted to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Better buy one good jack-knife before you die. Lowell Hardware Co., Milwaukee street.

Brazilians Fear a Revolution.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 24.—There was a meeting of the local authorities in this city to consider steps to be taken to prevent some hostile demonstration, which is looked for on the arrival of the special Italian minister, De Martino, who comes to see if an adjustment of the trouble between Brazil and Italy cannot be effected. It is said that the Jacobins will promote a disturbance and a fear exists in all quarters that a revolution is at hand.

...Adam Fell...

This was the first fall that is on record, and it was at an early date, long before the invention of the flannel night shirt, but if that fall was as chilly as this promises to be, no doubt Adam would have appreciated such a garment—for no modern invention with the possible exception of the liquid bait, can, and the curling iron, has so completely filled a long felt want as the flannel night shirt. Nothing that the women of the house could do would be more appreciated by the men folks than to take up a pair of these garments for him; he is sure to like them and their possession will make him happy.

Our way of handling the material that goes to make up these gowns brings their cost down to a fraction, for we sell shilling values for a sixpence.

Whittenton's English Flannel-ettes is the name of the fabric, which comes in both light and dark colors, is weighty, soft and fluffy, pleasant to handle and pleasant to wear; positive value is a shilling, and our price today is half,—6¼c. 6 yards makes a night shirt, costing 38c; 5 yards makes a gown, 31c. 3,500 yards, today and while they last, 6¼c per yard.

Do not confound these with goods you see in other stores at a similar price, for these are far superior, and as in the case with any of our advertised specials, are a positive bargain.

CAN THE CITY BUY THE WATER PLANT

LAWYERS DO NOT AGREE ON THE PROPOSITION.

City Attorney McElroy Holds that to Purchase Would Compel the City to Exceed Constitutional Limit of Indebtedness—Messrs. Winans and Jeffris Disagree With Him.

Can the city buy the water works? That is the question.

Hon. John Winans and M. G. Jeffris say "yes."

City Attorney McElroy says "no." And there you are.

The committee of the council having the matter in charge, have had several meetings, but as yet no conclusion has been reached.

Mr. McElroy contends that the city cannot buy, because if sufficient bonds were issued to make the deal, the amount of the city's indebtedness would exceed the constitutional limit of 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property in the city.

Hon. John Winans says that the city can buy, because the bonds against the plant would simply be claims against the plant and would not represent a municipal indebtedness. In case the stockholders had to protect themselves they would simply take the plant the city not being responsible.

Thus it comes to the question of whether or not, if the city bought the equity in the plant, the bonds would become a municipal indebtedness or remain simply a lien on the property. Mr. Winans' position, therefore, is, it is said, that the city would not assume the bonds, and therefore the plant can be bought without exceeding the constitutional limit of indebtedness.

Mr. McElroy does not look at it that way, as he says the city must be responsible for the bonds, and that thus the amount to be raised, must exceed the limit.

When the committee will make a report is not yet known, but it is said that the report, when made, will include the written opinions of the attorneys.

It was learned at last night's meeting of the committee, that the question of the purchase of the plant must be referred to the people at some election. The statutes of the state say that it takes a majority vote to decide, but the city charter requires a two-thirds vote.

The chairman of the committee was instructed to get a statement from the Water company as to the price at which they will sell the plant, and adjournment was taken.

City Attorney Horace McElroy, Aldermen S. B. Hedges, S. C. Burdham, E. Ray Inman, Fred Kothman and Attorney John Winans were present at last night's meeting.

UNDER BULL'S HOOF IN A MANGLED MASS

WEALTHY FARMER KILLED NEAR EDGERTON.

Two-Year-Old Durham Chases Him From Pasture to Pasture, Breaking Down a Fence, and Tosses His Body About for Three Hours Before Hired Men Arrive.

Benjamin Bussey, a well-to-do farmer, seventy years old, living north of Edgerton in the town of Albion, was killed by a bull yesterday afternoon. The bull tossed and trampled him until life was gone, and was still paving at him when the hired man came out, three hours later.

The bull had chased Mr. Bussey out of one pasture and through the fence into another. The animal, a two-year-old Durham, had been kept in a pasture with some young stock. Last week he threw Mr. Bussey over a fence, and the hired men were afraid to enter the pasture. Mr. Bussey, however, failed to take warning.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon he went to the pasture. From the appearance of things it is evident that the bull chased him over a fence, then broke through the fence and overtook him. The field where the tragedy occurred is a mile back from the road, and it was not until 6 o'clock when Mr. Bussey failed to come to supper, that a search was made.

The aged farmer was seen beneath the bull's hoofs. Now and again the bull would paw the body savagely. The hired man could not get anywhere near the body. The bull had to be shot before anything could be done.

The body was scarred and mangled fearfully. Ribs were broken and the face was almost unrecognizable.

Mr. Bussey left a wife and six children, the children living in Dakota.

The Record Gives Both Sides

Many Janesville people are interested in the report of W. E. Curtis, sent to Mexico by the Chicago Record to investigate the Mexican coinage system and its effects on workingmen. Mr. Curtis will study and report in an unprejudiced and impartial manner the effect of free coinage upon the natives, the business and the general condition of Mexico. These reports will be a valuable contribution to campaign literature, and will be worth studying by the voters of the United States who desire to be intelligently informed upon the financial question before they cast their ballots.

A ROYAL PROGRESS.

When spring, like Raleigh, flung his cloak
For her small foot's light treading,
The striding larches fresh buds broke,
And pennon leaves 'gan spreading.
The vassal sun, his glory shedding,
In cloth of gold drest humblest folk
When spring, like Raleigh, flung his cloak
For her small foot's light treading.
The loyal birds shrill homage woke,
And daisies, humble field flowers heaving,
Curled and bobbed beneath an oak
Decided out as for a royal wedding.
When spring, like Raleigh, flung his cloak
For her small foot's light treading.

A MAN FROM OHIO.

Mr. Longley's mistake, the mistake of his life, grew out of his first mistake, which was in ever coming to California. He was agent for the Pacific Steamship company prior to his occupying a similar position in a great lakes company. He had never seen the ocean until he came to Monterey. But he didn't think much of it—not after the lakes. Of the people he thought even less.

He used to go over to the telegraph office where Carpenter was, and there, on a pile of blue butter boxes, air his mind pretty freely concerning "these infernal greasers." Longley wasn't a bad fellow back in Ohio, but out here he could not or would not shake into place. He was going back, when he had a stipulated sum saved, to marry the prettiest girl in Ohio. Meantime he chafed and fretted at his chain.

One of the first things he did had gained him the ill will of all the loungers in the crooked little street. Benito, 4 years old, came running to him. Every one adored Benito, for the Spanish are baby lovers and not in the least ashamed to show it—Benito, with lovely crimson cheeks and great, velvety black eyes. Dirty? Oh, so dirty, but also so charming. Just as he reached the home-bred grande, he tumbled flat, and the "great man" calmly put out his foot and lifted Benito out of the way on the toe of his boot. They all saw that—Mannel, Francisco, the Moreno boys, Jose Erron, all—for they were sitting in front of Charley Rodriguez's saloon, keeping a wary eye out for possible whales in the bay. Benito ran howling to them, and the wound his vanity had received was healed with candy and soft words. But it would have been well for Mr. Longley if that had never happened.

The Spanish mamma is an excellent matchmaker, and very seldom has any old maids on her hands. She takes advantage of that contrary little twist in a man's nature which makes him want what is just out of his reach. So Isabel, or Carmelita, or Dolores, as the case may be, is sedulously guarded by the mother, who makes certain that her daughter is never alone with any young man a moment. Mr. Longley said often he did not care a pin for their customs. He was from Ohio and brought his own code of ethics and etiquette, which these greasers were obliged to trim to—not he to fit to theirs. No, sir! So, in line with these sentiments, he told Carpenter one day that he was going to take Julia Estudillo to the Thanksgiving ball.

"Have you asked her mother?" inquired the cautious Carpenter.

"I don't intend to," replied Mr. Longley. "I haven't asked the girl yet, but she'll jump at the chance to go with a white man. Say, she isn't a bad looking girl for a g—"

"Look out!" interrupted Carpenter. "you are a little too handy with that epithet. And you intend taking the girl alone?"

"Alone!" said Longley firmly. "No old duenna tags me around."

"You'll get yourself in trouble sure," Carpenter warned. "If you're not sand-bagged at the baile or assassinated before the baile—mark my words—they'll rope you into marrying the girl."

Mr. Longley slapped himself on his chest and gave his friend to understand that he had not journeyed all the way from Ohio to have his life cut off in its flower and prime by the hand of an assassin, nor did he leave the prettiest girl in "the states" to come out here to marry one of these "Spanish beauties" and for the rest of a fevered existence strive to keep enough frijoles and tortillas in the larder to feed her and her 4,000 relatives. "Don't you worry over Longley. He can take care of himself," was his parting adjuration.

Lured by the sound of viol, flute and bassoon, or, to be exact, accordion, two guitars and a fiddle, Carpenter stole away from the office to peep in at the Thanksgiving ball. The long hall was brilliant with kerosene lamps and gay with palms and flowers. Longley was there with his Julia. A quadrille had just ended, and the men were rushing about for new partners. When not dancing, the girls all sat at one end of the room, looking demure and pretty in their white frocks, with roses in their black braids. Facing them on a long bench sat the duennas gossiping and smoking, but each keeping an unwearied eye upon her particular charge.

Longley caught sight of Carpenter and came hurrying out. "You see I brought her," he said.

"And her mother?" asked Carpenter. "Mother nothing! You want to hear how I did it?" and Longley unfolded a tale that made Carpenter gasp.

"Well, my son, if you really did this—persuaded that foolish girl to climb out of the window and go with you unknown to her mother—I don't know but what you deserve your fate. You know too much ever to take advice, but I'll give you this piece, so I won't have you on my conscience as not having done all I could. Don't go home the same way you came, and, if it was me, I'd walk backward every step of the way."

Longley waved the advice lightly from him and hurried back to Julia.

The next time the friends met was at Longley's wedding, four weeks after the Thanksgiving ball. Longley looked weak and pale. Carpenter judged he had hardly recovered from the garrot, so that had laid him low as he was boasting Julia in her window, one of the iron bars of which Longley had managed to remove. Longley suspected Julia's cousin, Jose Erron, who had shown unutterable hatred for the young eastern man.

For three weeks Longley lay in the Estudillos' adobe suffering from concussion of the brain. Part of the time he was unconscious. He had strange dreams. The bare little chamber was a prison cell, and Julia was his jailer. He dreamed he clomped for Kitty—Kitty back in Ohio—that is, he thought "Kitty" and struggled to say it, to scream it, but the spoken word turned to "Julia." He strove, he fought, struggling as a drowning man struggles for breath in the water, to call for Kitty. He was not Julia's, he was Kitty's. That kept floating back and forth in his brain like a piece of kelp sloshing to and fro in the tide.

When he got the kinks straightened out in his head, he found that they had finished calling the banns for him and Julia, and that they were preparing for the wedding to take place as soon as he could stand.

The thing was monstrous, without doubt, but what could be done? Carpenter was the only one who would even try to interfere, and he could do nothing. Julia clothed herself in stupidity, and against that impenetrable armor Carpenter battered in vain. The mother, of course, understood no word of English; so it was useless to appeal to her. And there they had poor, conceited, rattled Longley fast.

The marriage could not take place in the church, as Longley was not a Catholic. The priest did not approve and remonstrated with Senora Estudillo in regard to this impious alliance with a heretic. "Valgame Dios!" she said, with a despairing shrug. "What would you? Those of the true faith will not work, and there are seven of us and nine of the family of my sister. Would you have us starve?" It is a sad thing that religion must give way to matters of expediency. The dollar dominates even in slumberous old Monterey.

Carpenter, with a grim line round his mouth, wondered as he stood watching the priest's genuflections if Longley was recalling any of his somewhat intemperate remarks about priests and greasers. He looked white enough, as he stood limply by bridal robed Julia, to be recalling the sins and misadventures of a bad life a century long.

Longley never did get to looking "right part"—he began work too soon. He worked early and he worked late, for there were not 19 blood relatives and 28 collaterals, also the blood relatives of the collaterals, and all big eaters? But it is an unwritten law that you are not expected to clothe the collaterals or their relatives.

A dozen or so would come down from Tassajara, another dozen from Tres Pinos, and there "visit" three or four weeks at Longley's in the most perfect amity. Being but human, Longley would occasionally raise Cain and the roof, but as most of his swarthy relatives were surprisingly destitute of a knowledge of English his revolts were ineffectual.

They had parties every Sunday night, and to the strains of an accordion and three or four guitars they would fairly dance the lint out of the floor and walls.

In the old unfettered days that which had met with Longley's most unqualified scorn were these very Sunday night dances.—Edith Wagner in Argonaut.

Electric Fencing.

Lovers of fencing will be interested in an invention which has just been tried in London, and which is said to do away altogether with the difficulty constantly experienced by an umpire in judging hits between two equally matched competitors. This end, it is declared, has been achieved by covering the front of each jacket with fine copper or brass wire gauze, and connecting this with the adversary's foil and an electric bell (of the burglar alarm pattern) and battery in the same circuit. It follows that when a hit is made the circuit is closed, and the bell rings and continues to ring until stopped by the person in charge. A special arrangement in each foil handle provides that only a direct point produces a ring. Two entirely electrically distinct circuits are used, each including a bell, foil and jacket; flicks or blows or grazes produce no result. The bells being of different tones, and, moreover, placed on opposite sides of the room, there is no difficulty in deciding who has scored a hit, or, in cases of almost simultaneous hits, who delivered the point first. By a simple arrangement the wires passing from the batteries to the combatants' collars are kept well out of the way, however sudden may be their movements of advance or retreat. In the London trial six selected amateurs competed for a pair of foils, and five bouts were fought. The experiments were completely successful. A military expert, Captain Hutton, who was present, said that the device would be of great value at such competitions as the royal military tournament.

Funerals in Yorkshire.

A funeral is still regarded as a very high festival in rural Yorkshire. A poor woman was lately heard complaining of the fare provided at one she had attended. "A paltry concern," she said, scornfully. "Nobbut cakes and such like. Now I've buried five, but I sided 'em all off with 'am!" And this: A farmer was assisting his daughter in the choice of a dress, and seeing her fancy incline to a blue one, said remonstratingly, "Nay, lass, tak the black one, happen tha might have the luck to be axed to a funeral," and his counsel prevailed.

What He Could Do.

James Payn tells a story of a certain officer of a transatlantic steamship who, in the absence of any clerical passenger, was asked, during a storm, to undertake the duties of chaplain. He was anxious to oblige, but felt that he was altogether unequal to ecclesiastical operations—to preaching or even reading. "I can, however," he said, "take up a collection."

One reason why women are so generally troubled with some derangement of the distinctly feminine organism is that as girls they learn nothing about their own physical make up. Parents are waking up to the importance of education of this kind, and young women are becoming more and more able to take care of their health. Carelessness in girlhood causes the greatest suffering and unhappiness in after life. Little irregularities and weaknesses in girls should be looked after promptly and treatment given at once. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription promotes regularity of all feminine functions, makes strength and builds up a sturdy health with which to meet the trials to come. The "Favorite Prescription" is not a universal panacea. It is good for but one thing. It is directed solely at one set of organs.

HOME DECORATIONS.

Plants and Shrubs That Are Both Durable and Ornamental.

It is almost a wonder that the rural districts are not left bare of vegetation in the early fall, when the "summer boarder" returns to his—or, better, her—city domicile, for the quantity of leaves, flowers and berries that are plucked and prepared for transportation is incalculable. Sometimes they are left behind, after all; sometimes they prove so burdensome as to necessitate their abandonment on the way. When they reach town triumphantly, only to be cast aside in a few days, withered and unsightly, instead of serving all winter as a reminder of country joys, which was the purpose for which they were intended. The nonstaying power of these rural beauties is largely owing to the ignorance shown in selecting them. Gentians, for example, red leaves and wild grapes, although beautiful in themselves, are not calculated for a permanent winter decoration of the home, while some other plants not so striking at first sight will keep for months and form a graceful ornamentation in vases or over picture frames. No leaves, even pine and fir needles, keep well, but oaks, wheat and rye, when ripe, are very pretty and durable, as are cattails and the blossoms of many rushes and grasses. The sea rosemary, which grows in the sand close to the water and has bare stems with tiny purple or white blossoms, will keep indefinitely, as will the pompons made of thistle blossoms and milkweed seeds. Bittersweet berries form perhaps the most pleasing home decoration of this sort when they grow in large clusters. If long pieces of the vine are taken and the foliage, which soon withers, is removed, they may be festooned on the wall very gracefully, the orange colored berries being both lasting and decorative.

An illustration is given of a girl's frock of suede wool goods having a printed design in two shades of brown. The skirt is plain. The bodice has a plastron of white embroidered silk opening in a square over a vest of blue velvet. A bertha of white lace outlines the plastron, which is closed under bows of blue velvet held by a buckle. The tight woolen sleeves have small velvet cuffs and large draped woolen puffs.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Popular Materials and Colors For Winter Dress Goods.

Stripes, both large and small, have had a great vogue this season, as have shepherd's plaids and checks. Even the flowered muslins and challies have had a stripe running through them, while striped taffetas have enjoyed the utmost favor. It is a little early yet to accurately foretell whether stripes will be worn to an equal extent during the winter, but bright plaids, both for bodices and trimmings, are likely to remain in style.

There is no diminution in the popularity of green, and violet is a close second. This latter color and the flower from which it is named have enjoyed a highly fashionable position for an unusual length of time as fashions go in these days.

In spite of the prognostications of the decline and fall of crepon, many of the Paris models of autumn costumes are in this material, which is serviceable and attractive. Canvas, which, it was foretold, would take the place of crepon, has not yet done so and is not likely to do so immediately.

Taffeta, in plain, changeable and broche styles, is as much in favor as ever. The green and mauve glaze effects are particularly liked, those two colors being considered so desirable at present.

Woolen goods having a printed design, floral or other, seem to be coming to the front not only for children's costumes, but for adult wear. Dark blue, with a red or white figure, is among the most pleasing varieties of this style of goods. The trimming usually matches the figure in color, forming a contrast to the general tone of the dress. If blue with red figures is selected, the brighter the red the better will be the effect. Dark red and dark blue together always look gloomy.

An illustration is given of a costume of dark blue wool crepon. It has a godet skirt, the tablier of which is framed by two long bands of dark blue satin ribbon, edged with jet cabochons, the ribbons terminating at the lower end in choux. The fitted bodice is trimmed in front with three lengthwise bands of ribbon, bordered with jet cabochons and terminating at the top under choux. The same ornamentation passes up the tight sleeve, which has a short, draped puff at the top. The plain collar and the crossed corslet are of dark blue satin.
